

European Company Navigates GDPR Challenges in US Litigation

Overview

A European company facing litigation in the U.S. needed to review and produce a large volume of documents under tight deadlines. Complicating matters, the company had to ensure compliance with GDPR while sharing data with its U.S. legal team.

Services:
Document Review

---

Challenges

The company needed to quickly review a substantial document set while adhering to GDPR's data privacy regulations. With different legal standards across jurisdictions, the process required a nuanced approach to redactions while still enabling effective case preparation for the U.S. team.

Expertise

Sandline implemented a solution-assisted GDPR review, leveraging technology to identify and redact protected data efficiently. Our team designed specialized workflows for a non-traditional review, ensuring compliance without unnecessary delays. The process prioritized responsiveness while applying targeted redactions at scale, preserving essential legal content for case strategy.

Results

By combining technology-driven redaction workflows with expert oversight, Sandline completed the review ahead of schedule. The European company successfully produced compliant documents to the U.S. litigation team while mitigating GDPR risks.

